

Back To Work

I am returning to work after recovering from knee surgery on May 18, 2010. The picture below is what was accomplished via the surgery (pretty cool). I am part bionic man.

My rehabilitation will continue for 3 months, after which I can return to my normal recreation activities (i.e. coaching basketball, refereeing soccer, and walking long distances (I plan to walk a marathon, not run as I did for seven LA marathons)).

My office hours are listed below. I have also included a number of the services and insurance providers which I represent.

Thank you for your patience during the recuperation phase of my surgery.
